According to statistics, Iran's annual sunshine time exceeds 300 days, and the average solar radiation is about 19.50 (MJ/m²)/day, especially Kerman, Fars, Isfahan and Azd provinces, the annual radiation is as high as 2511 kWh/m², these areas are the main gathering place of solar energy resources.

In September 2022, according to the Iranian energy ministry, solar rooftop electricity increased by 20 MW. And the total rooftop solar capacity of Iran's household sector reached 90 MW. In January 2022, to reach the long-term goal of a cumulative renewable capacity of 30 GW, the Iranian Energy.

The average amount of radiation in Iran is about 950 watts per square meter. The solar panels available in the commercial market have an efficiency of about 17-22% and considering that the entire surface of a solar panel does not contain energy-receiving silicon, each square meter of these panels.

NREL analyzes the total costs associated with installing photovoltaic (PV) systems for residential rooftop, commercial rooftop, and utility-scale ground-mount systems. This work has grown to include cost models for solar-plus-storage systems. NREL's PV cost benchmarking work uses a bottom-up.

With 300 sunny days per year and an average solar irradiance of 5.5 kWh/m² per day, Iran has substantial potential for solar energy. This potential could play a crucial role in transitioning from fossil-based energy systems to achieve long-term energy security and sustainability. Supporting.
