Overview

How do you get severance pay in Israel?

Following one year of service, a 30-day notice is required. In Israel, employees who are being dismissed are entitled to severance pay upon completing one year of service. The severance pay is calculated at one month's salary multiplied by the number of years of employment (including work for part of a year).

What happens if an employee dies in Israel?

In Israel, in the event of a death of an immediate family member, the employee is entitled to up to seven calendar days of paid leave to grieve for their loss. The employer fully compensates bereavement leave once the employee has completed three months of service. In Israel, employees serving on reserve duty must still be paid by their employer.

How many shareholders does a private company have in Israel?

Private companies must have a director and at least one shareholder. Public companies are registered on the Israeli stock market and must have at least seven shareholders. If you register as a foreign company in Israel, your company will have the status of a branch or a subsidiary.
