What is the advancing contracting in Energy Storage Working Group?

The Advancing Contracting in Energy Storage (ACES) Working Group is an independent industry led and funded effort founded to develop a best practice guide for the energy storage project development community.

What type of energy storage projects are recent contracts for?

Recent contracts are predominantly for much larger transmission-connected energy storage projects. Earlier energy storage contracts were significantly more expensive across all grid domains, and they generally reflect the cost reductions seen in the global storage industry.

How do energy storage contracts work?

For standalone energy storage contracts, these are typically structured with a fixed monthly capacity payment plus some variable cost per megawatt hour (MWh) of throughput. For a combined renewables-plus-storage project, it may be structured with an energy-only price in lieu of a fixed monthly capacity payment.

When will the energy storage projects be installed?

The energy storage projects will be installed by the end of 2024. In 2013, the CPUC issued Decision 13-10-040 and directed California's three large investor-owned utilities to procure 1,325 megawatts of energy storage by 2020.

How do energy storage contracts work in California?

In California, most energy storage contracts executed by utilities have either a fixed flat price or a price schedule escalating annually. The prices for these contracts can be summarized as follows, with data aggregated by grid domain and type of contracts.
