With 72% of Burkina Faso's urban population relying on inconsistent grid power, the right battery specs aren't just technical jargon - they're survival tools for businesses and households alike. A local tailor loses 3 hours of work daily during voltage drops. Now imagine batteries that act like.

As West Africa's largest energy storage initiative, it's like giving Burkina Faso's capital a giant rechargeable battery - one that could power 200,000 homes during peak demand [6]. But how does a landlocked country with 37°C average temperatures keep its cool while revolutionizing energy.
